Thesis in The Date of Tomb TT 254 Verification through Analysis of its Scenes

Sahar Mohamed Abd el-Rahman Ibrahim
Faculty of Archeology, Cairo University, Egypt

Abstract: This paper extrapolates and reaches an approximate date of the TOMB of TT 254, the tomb of Mosi (Amenmose) (TT254), has not been known to Egyptologists until year 1914, when it was taken up from modern occupants by the Antiquities Service, The tomb owner is Mosi, the Scribe of the treasury and custodian of the estate of queen Tiye in the domain of Amun This tomb forms with two other tombs (TT294-TT253) a common courtyard within Al-Khokha necropolis. Because the Titles/Posts of the owner of this tomb indicated he was in charge of the estate of Queen Tiye, no wonder a cartouche of this Queen were written among wall paintings. Evidently, this tomb’s stylistic features of wall decorations are clearly influenced by the style of Amarna; such as the male figures with prominent stomachs, and elongated heads, these features refer that tomb TT254 has been finished just after the reign of Amenhotep IV (Akhenatun). Table stands between the deceased and Osiris which is divided into two parts: the first part (as a tray) is loading with offerings, then the other is a bearer which consisted of two stands shaped as pointed pyramids... based on the connotations: 1- Offerings tables. 2- Offerings Bearers. 3- Anubis. 4- Mourners. 5- Reclamation of land for cultivation. 6- Banquet in some noble men tombs at Thebes through New Kingdom era. Applying some inductive analogies, conclude that This Theban tomb belongs to the era of King Ay.

Keywords: tomb, Mosi (Amenmose), scribe, treasury, custodian, queen Tiye, Amun, Al-Khokha necropolis, paintings, Amarna, stomachs, heads, Amenhotep IV (Akhenatun), pyramids, Thebes, King Ay.
Thesis in The Date Of Tomb TT 254 Verification Through Analysis of its Scenes

The objective of preparing and submitting this thesis is to:

Extrapolate and reach an approximate date of The TOMB of TT 254

DATE OF THE TOMB OF TT 254 BY ANALYZING ITS SCENES

The tomb of Mosi (Amenmose) (TT254), has not been known to Egyptologists until year 1914, when it was taken up from modern occupants by the Antiquities Service.

The tomb owner:

Mosi, the Scribe of the treasury and custodian of the estate of queen Tiye in the domain of Amun (1).

Previous work:

Normande Garis Davies, has worked first in tomb (TT254). He published only two of its scenes (Fig. 1)(2) and some other scenes done using pencil tracing to complete unto forty-one plates (3) (Fig. 2)

Although more Egyptologists have visited this tomb, only one photograph has been published. The one of some musicians. (4)

In 1984-1990, an expedition of Cambridge University in Khokha carried on what Norman and Nina de Grais Davies did before, then Nigel Strudwick and Helen M. Strudwick published this tomb.\(^{(1)}\)

Location of the tomb:

This tomb forms with two other tombs (TT294-TT253) a common courtyard within Al-Khokha necropolis.

---

Date of the Tomb:

- Because the Titles/Posts of the owner of this tomb indicated he was in charge of the estate of Queen Tiye, no wonder a cartouche of this Queen were written among wall paintings\(^{(3)}\).\(^{(3)}\) (Fig.3)
- Evidently, this tomb’s stylistic features of wall decorations are clearly influenced by the style of Amarna; such as the male figures with prominent stomachs, and elongated heads, these features refer that tomb TT254 has been finished just after the reign of Amenhotep IV (Akhenatun).\(^{(4)}\)

Nigel Strudwick dated the tomb from the transition- to Ramesside period.

In spite of the above efforts, the exact date of this tomb is still uncertain till now.

---

\(^{(1)}\) Strudwick, op. cit., 58.

\(^{(2)}\) PM., Vol. 1., 499.

\(^{(3)}\) Strudwick, op. cit., pl. XXXI

\(^{(4)}\) Ibid., 59.
Therefore, we have taken the following new methodology to come up with a specific date:

- Examining motifs of scenes as depicted on the tombs’ walls that pertained to the era of late part of the 18th Dynasty (from Amenophis III) and the beginning of the 19th dynasty (Seti I), which they are:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>King</th>
<th>Theban Tombs (TT)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Amenophis III to Amenophis IV</td>
<td>TT 55, TT181, TT192, 188, TT57, TT175, &amp; TT52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ay</td>
<td>TT49</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Horemheb</td>
<td>TT255, TT291 &amp; 51</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seti I</td>
<td>TT51, TT1 &amp; TT323</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Probative Evidences

I. The indications about offering tables

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Amenhotep III &amp; IV</th>
<th>offering table took the shape of Ka-sign, with two trays upon two bearers (2)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Ay (TT49)</td>
<td>offering table has two trays upon two bearers which have the pyramid shape</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Horemheb</td>
<td>Offering table has two bearers (3)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(1) PM, Vol. 1., 334.
Offering table took the shape of Ka-sign with cornice edge, It has four stands. A compound offering table has bearer with top-edge taken crown shape. (1)

Fig. 4: The context of the scene

Table stands between the deceased and Osiris which is divided into two parts: the first part (as a tray) is loading with offerings, then the other is a bearer which consisted of two stands shaped as pointed pyramids.

that table is a compound one.

Fig. 5 Plate 1. (wall4): A comparison between the offering tables depicted on wall of tomb TT49 Ay time, and on the wall of TT 254, same features; both offering tables have one tray upon two stands, which of pyramid shape in the presence of Osiris.

The Indications which provided above similar with the implications of the reign of Ay

II. The indications about offering Bearers

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Amenhotep III &amp; IV</th>
<th>Male bearers have oval-shaped heads, in folded (Plissés) aprons. Their details are accurate expressions. Some of them carry the Amon bunches of Roses, others carry offering tables. (2)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Ay</td>
<td>Male bearers, some wear short frontal folded (Plissés) kilts, others wear long ones. Some carry the bouquets of Amon, others carry offering tables. The male figures with prominent stomachs, and elongated heads.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Horemheb</td>
<td>Male bearers in folded (Plissés) aprons. Carry the Amon bunches of Roses. (3)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seti 1st</td>
<td>Male bearers wearing slippers, bald head. The male figures with prominent stomach. Carry bouquets of Amon. (4)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(3) Wild Henri, La tombe de Néfer-hotep (I) et Neb-néfer à Deir el-Médina (No.6) et autres documents les concernant, MIFAO 103, Tome II (1979), Henri.

(4) Davies, N. de Ga Davies, Norman. de Garis, op. cit., pl. XVI.1.XVI.
Fig. 6 (wall2.): The context of the scene:

Males and females offering bearers in two sets.

males: bald heads, bare feet, some in long and other in short kilts with Plissés, those former who carry a bouquet of Amun, the others carry the offering tables with both hands, which piled with offerings.

Females: wearing a long white robe with a wide collar in the shape of lotus. Placed on the long wigs with blue and green lotus flowers as bands on their forehead.

1st lady: carrying blue and green flower.

2nd: carrying a red vase contains four candles pointed shape with blue flame.

3rd & 4th: carrying plate surrounded with flowers.

The Indications which provided above about offering bearers similar with the implications of the reign of Ay

III. The indications about Anubis supports Osiris

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Amenhotep III</th>
<th>Anubis sits behind Osiris in full appearance: nude chest, wide green collar, short white and yellow kilt. Has thick mouth. Holds Ankh-sign in his left hand (1)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Tutankhamun</td>
<td>Anubis sits opposite Osiris back to back in full appearance, with tail, holding Ankh sign in his left hand and scepter in his right hand. (2)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ay</td>
<td>Osiris supported by the goddess of the West. Anubis sits individually in full appearance, holding Ankh sign in his left hand and scepter in his right hand.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ramesses I-Seti I</td>
<td>Anubis stands behind Osiris in full appearance, with tail. Anubis supports Osiris’s head by his left hand (3)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

(1) http://www.osirisnet.net/tombes/nobles/anonyme175/photo/anonyme175_bs_38893_detail_02.jpg.

(2) http://www.osirisnet.net/tombes/nobles/houy40/photo/houy40_cd_6477.jpg.

(3) Davies, NDavies, Norman de Garis, op. cit. pl. IX; http://www.osirisnet.net/tombes/nobles/userhat51/photo/userhat51_mr_17.jpg.
Fig.7(wall5): The context of the scene:
The deceased offered to the deity Osiris who is supported by both Anubis and goddess of the West.

Numerology:
- Anubis Stands directly behind the Osiris’s throne.
- Anubis appears as a humanslim body with jackalhead, and has long pointed nose.
- Wearing a short white and yellow kilt, holding an Ankh sign in his right hand.

The goddess of West followed behind Anubis.

The Indications about Anubis supports Osiris which provided above similar with the implications of the reign of Ay

IV. The indications about Mourners

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Amenhotep III - IV</th>
<th>The mourners Form in sets, standing in rows , accompanying their children , putting the right hand on heads and left on legs ,they are squatting(^{(1)}). Tears on their cheek depicted in varyshapes: sporadic - wavy dashes or dots. They depicted in different color of skin and all of them with flabby breast. They have Different hairstyles, Tied or untied. Putting on large long robe in Plissés.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Ay</td>
<td>Male and female mourners whom are in diversity movements. While some females are gathering dust from earth to put upon heads, and another placing the right hands on the heads and left on the ground where they are squatting, the others are lifting their hands in front of their faces or hands tied up at the chest. Females putting wide long gowns with short sleeves in Plissés.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Horemheb</td>
<td>Female mourners similar in movements they are kneeling and placing their right hands on the heads. There are tears dropping on cheeks. They are putting on long white dresses in Plissés with a node directly down the ladies nude breast. (^{(2)})</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

\(^{(2)}\) http://www.segweb.ch/har2/RH_02_2_09.jpg; http://www.osirisnet.net/tombes/nobles/roy/photo/roy_15.jpg; Baud, Marcel and Etienne Drioton, "Le tombeau de Panehsy In: Georges Foucart, et al. Tombes thébaines: Nécropole de Dirâ’ Abû’n-Naga: Le tombeau de Roï (tomeau no. 255); Le tombeau de Panehsy (tomeau no. 10); Le tombeau
Fig.8,9,10(wall2): The context of the scene:
Female mourners lined up in six rows:
- Two of them in the first three rows.
- The first three rows are longer than their peers, perhaps they are ones of the deceased ladies.
- All female mourners wearing long dresses with large short folded sleeves, and all of them put on long black hair wigs.
- They are lifting their hands in front of their faces as grief.
- Tears on their cheeks depicted in dots.

The Indications about Mourners,
Which provided above similar with the implications of the reign of Ay

V. The indications about Reclamation of land for cultivation

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Amenhotep III</th>
<th>The meandering land has somelakes. Farmers are using axes and shovels for the land Reclamation (1)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Ay</td>
<td>Workers in lands to refine papyrus marshes, to cut off papyrus stalks and uprooting trees. There is supervision man who standing and holding an illustrative map of the whole project to guide the workers. Some workers are bald which mean they are foreign, while others have features of Amarna. All of them put on kilts with folds.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ramses II</td>
<td>workers do the reclamation of lands as uprooting of trees by using ropes &amp; axes (2)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Fig.11(wall 1): The context of the scene: The scene is somehow similar to the wilderness of the land and exploited for agriculture

The far right of the scene is an acacia tree (perhaps within the jungles) and cutting off by man with hand axe and pressed onto his right foot on the trunk of the tree to balance it.

- A trunk seems like bending backwards.

---

(1) Nabil Zaki Marwan, Egyptian Agricultural Life in the New Kingdom (PhD Theses, Cairo University Department of Egyptology: 1989), Fig.39.

(2) Abdel-Qader, M. Mohammed, "Two Theban Tombs: Kyky and Bak-en-Amun" ASAE 59 ( Cairo: 1966): Pl. XLII; Baud, Marcel and Etienne Drioton. op. cit., Fig.23.
- This man is wearing a short kilt for ease of movement, another man wearing a kilt length up until after the knee with long folds, holding a shovel perhaps to remove foliage that rises over his head.

Numerology:
- Workers uprooting trees from the jungles.
- Workers are bald.
- Workers putting on kilts with folds, which its length up the knee.
- Workers have features of Amarna.

The Indications which provided above similar with the implications of the reign of Ay

VI. The indications about Banquet

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Amenhotep III</th>
<th>Male guests are in Transparent shirt with one shoulder, folded kilts, wide necklace and ointment cone on their heads.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Amenhotep III &amp; IV</td>
<td>Male guests wearing long shirt with half sleeve and short kilts in Plissés with, open wrapped cloak in two colors yellow and white, putting wide necklace, bracelets. They catch cloth in hands &amp; stick with sign šm ointments cones on their heads.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ay</td>
<td>Male guests wearing shirts with wide Plissés sleeves up to the elbow and folded Plissés kilts which cover from its behind with a triangular shape cloth of the forward, and put wide collar around the neck</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ramses II</td>
<td>Bald male guests, putting ointment cones on their heads. Wearing loose Cloaks, which are colored fabric in Plissés, and long transparent kilts, other short ones beneath. They design translucent white shawls on their shoulders. They put on white sandals. They hold sign and lotus with leaf of lettuce in hands.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Fig.12(wall2): The context of the scene in TT 254

- The Banquet, Perhaps a harvest celebration(Feast) where there is Rennut the goddess seen in scene, this banquet including guests and relatives they sit on chairs without both arms and backs, the chairs have wooden supports under the bases. Plate2

Numerology:
- The scene begins from right where first guest holding pot by his hand which offered by butler.
- Shaved heads male guests.
- They’re wearing shirts with wide sleeves in Plissés its length until their elbows, and folded kilts which covered of triangular shape in its front.
- Guests wearing large necklaces around their necks.

Fig .13(wall 5): The context of the scene of Musician scene and clappers:

In the presence of the decease and his wife through the scene of offering by their daughter, the musical female band playing.

| Amenhotep III | lyre-female player wearing a large transparent cloak with one shoulder.
|              | large harp- female player in large transparent robe with half sleeves and the player of long neck lute wearing a rectangular transparent cloak with belt.
|              | There is a double flute-female player in that scene All of them have the same hairstyles in big braids, putting ointment cones on their heads with lotus buds on both front and back of the heads . Wearing large circle earrings.(1) |

| Amenhotep IV & Tut ankh Amon | Tabors and drum female musicians with dancers are wearing loose Cloak in Plissés with widely sleeves All of them have the same hairstyles in big braids putting ointment cones on their heads with lotus flower blooming on their forehead .
| Ay | There are young girls who knocking on their bodies as rhythms. |

| Ramses II | Priestess for Oboe Playing(3) |

This band is composed of:

- A micro lyre female player, (harp with eight strings).
- A great harp female player (with twelve strings).

---

(1) Norman de Garis Davies, The Tomb of Nakht at Thebes (New York: MMA, 1917), pl. XV; Lise Manniche, The Erotic Oboe In Ancient Egypt, Third International Meeting of the ICTM Study Group on Music Archaeology, Verlag für systematische Musikwissenschaft GmbH Bonn, fig.2,ig.2.

(3) Manniche, Lise, op. cit., fig.3.
- Flute female player.
- Lute female Player (lute with a long neck).
- Little girl knocking on her body as a rhythm.

All of them are naked and putting long wigs stretched by headband (shenet), topped with fatty cones with lotus flower blooming on their forehead.

Numerology:
- Each Musician Bends her knee with rising the heel of her other leg and touching the ground by toes.
- Back whirling motion without giving any justification.
- Long stretched wigs by headbands (shenet).
- Blooms of lotus are on their foreheads.

The Indications which provided above about Banquet (including the musicians and dancers) is similar with the implications of the reign of Ay

The conclusion

Based on the above summarized connotations: 1- Offerings tables. 2- Offerings Bearers. 3- Anubis. 4- Mourners. 5- Reclamation of land for cultivation, and 6- Banquet in some noble men tombs at Thebes through New Kingdom era.

Applying some inductive analogies, Conclude that:

This Theban tomb belongs to the era of King Ay.
Illustrative Figures

Fig. 1

Fig. 2

Fig. 3

Fig. 4

(1) Davies, Norman de Garis, A Peculiar, fig. 6.
(2) http://www.griffith.ox.ac.uk/gri/gif-files/Davies_10_56_19m.jpg.
(3) Strudwick, Nigel, The Tombs of Amenhotep, op. cit., Pl. XXXI.
Thesis in The Date Of Tomb TT 254 Verification Through Analysis of its Scenes

Plate 1

Fig. 5

Fig. 6

Fig. 7

(2) Norman de Garis Davies, The Tomb of Nefer-hotep at Thebes (New York: 1933), Pl. XIV.

(3) Nigel Strudwick, op. cit., Pl. XXXV scene 6.1.a.

(4) Ibid., pl.XXIX sce.3.1.c.

(5) Ibid., pl. XXXIII.
Fig. 8 (1)

Fig. 9 (2)

Fig. 10 (3)

(1) Strudwick, Nigel. op. cit., pl. XXVIII, 2. 2. b.
(2) Ibid., pl. XXXII. scene 6. 4. a.
(3) Ibid., pl.8 a XXXIV. scene 6. 4. 6.
Thesis in The Date Of Tomb TT 254 Verification Through Analysis of its Scenes

(1) Ibid., pl.XXVII, scene 1.2.c.
(1) Ibid., pl. XXXI scene 5.1.B,80
Bibliography

- Abdel-Qader, M. Mohammed, Two Theban Tombs: Kyky and Bak-en-Amun. ASAE 59 (Cairo 1966).
- Baud, Marcel and Etienne Drioton, Le tombeau de Panehsy In: Georges Foucart, et al. Tombes thébaines: Nécropole de Dirâ’ Abû’n-Naga: Le tombeau de Roÿ (tombeau no. 255); Le tombeau de Panehsy (tombeau no. 16); Le tombeau d’Amonmos (tombeau no. 19 ); Le tombeau d’Amon-am-anit (tombeau no. 277) (= MIFAO, 57, 2). Cairo, 1928-1935.
- Davies, Norman de Garis, The Tomb of Nefer-hotep at Thebes, New York, 1933.
- Davies, Norman de Garis, The Tomb of the Two Sculptors at Thebes (= TTS, 4). New York, 1925.
- Manniche, Lise, The Erotic Oboe In Ancient Egypt, Third International Meeting of the ICTM Study Group on Music Archaeology, Verlag für systematische Musikwissenschaft GmbH Bonn.
- Strudwick, Nigel. The Tombs of Amenhotep, Khnummose, and Amenmos at Thebes (Nrs. 294, 253, and 254) (= Griffith Institute Monographs, 1). Oxford; Griffith Institute, 1996.

WEBSITES
- http://www.osirisnet.net/tombes/nobles/anonyme175/photo/anonyme175.bs_.jpg
- http://www.osirisnet.net/tombes/nobles/houy40/photo/houy40_cd_.jpg
- http://www.osirisnet.net/tombes/nobles/ramose/e_ramose55_.jpg
- http://www.osirisnet.net/tombes/nobles/userhat51/photo/userhat51_mr_.jpg
- http://www.segweb.ch/hari2/RH_02_2_09.jpg
- http://www.osirisnet.net/tombes/nobles/roy/photo/roy_15.jpg
- http://www.osirisnet.net/tombes/nobles/kheru/photo/kherouef_o1_.gif